Subject: REMINDER: new limits on online classes effective January 1

Dear barber schools:

As a reminder, new limits on online classes (also referred to as distance learning) will go into effect January 1, 2022. Although schools currently can offer up to 1528 hours online, beginning January 1 only specific hours can be offered online.

The rule that governs online classes is available at the link below. Please refer to paragraph (b), which specifies the number of hours by topic that can be offered online. Schools must make sure they aren't offering online classes beyond the totals allowed for each subject matter.
